Emergency contraception

If you have had sex without using contraception, or think your method has failed, you may need emergency contraception to prevent an unwanted pregnancy.

You should seek advice as soon as possible after sex. Emergency contraception is available from all our clinics on a walk-in basis.

Doctors and nurses in training

Some of our clinics have doctors, nurses or medical students in training. If you do not wish to be seen by a trainee, please speak to the doctor or nurse.

Contact the service

Our headquarters is at the Margaret Pyke Centre, 73 Charlotte Street, London, W1T 4PL.

We provide free contraceptive and sexual health services. A range of appointment-based and walk-in clinics are available, including evening and Saturday morning sessions. You can attend any clinic regardless of your place of residence.

Detailed information about opening times and locations is available from Our Services on www.camdenproviderservices.nhs.uk.

Services available include:

- contraception including natural family planning & Long Acting Reversible Contraception (LARC)
- counselling & referral for sterilisation
- emergency contraception
- pre-conception advice & pregnancy testing
- referral for abortion
- cervical screening (smear test)
- chlamydia screening
- young people's sexual health clinics
- advice about gynaecological issues
- pre-menstrual syndrome & menstrual problems advice
- referral for breast problems
- menopause advice & referral

During your visit

When you arrive, you will be asked to complete a registration form. This will include personal details such as your name and date of birth. You will then see a health professional who will discuss options with you and offer you an examination or tests.

For some services, such as provision of condoms and chlamydia screening, you do not need to see a health professional. Clinics have a choice of female doctors and nurses. Interpreting, chaperone and advocacy services are available.
